Single Semester Solution Built for Maximum Impact

Express Track uses a Structured Literacy framework to build essential foundational reading skills through our research-based, flexible instructional approach. Grounded in the Orton-Gillingham method, instruction is explicit, systematic, and sequential—progressing from simple concepts to more advanced skills. This targeted approach helps students make rapid progress, boosting confidence, motivation, and overall reading success.

Comprehensive Teaching and Learning Resources

Structured, easy-to-follow lessons with built-in text connections are paired with ready-made teacher slides to support confident instruction. Students build skills through practice with decodable texts, a Lexile®-leveled library, and printable grammar packets designed to develop and reinforce learning.

Help Students Reach Grade Level by Quickly Removing Learning Roadblocks

Unlocking Skills for Reading Success

Express Track features a simplified scope and sequence designed to help students unlock English language patterns and structure. Through explicit, systematic instruction in all six syllable types, students learn to recognize and respond to common letter and spelling patterns. This structured approach strengthens decoding and comprehension while helping students quickly internalize the core patterns that support automatic word recognition.

Empowering Striving Readers with Multimodal Lessons

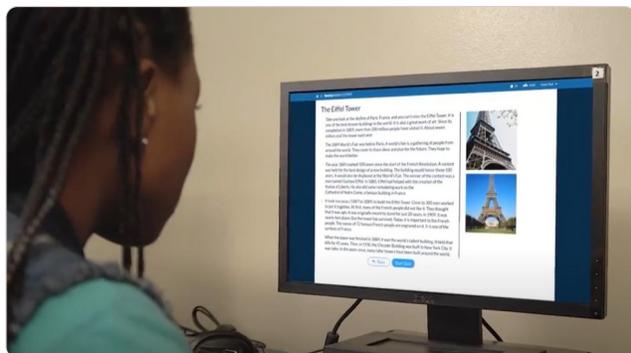

The instruction's effectiveness is based on method and teacher-led instruction using the gradual release of responsibility. This method is taught by leveraging multimodal techniques for student engagement and connection.

Interactive Student Software Personalizes Learning and Progress

Student software and materials reinforce and follow the track of teacher-led instruction, allowing students to learn at their own pace and teachers to assess individual student needs immediately.

Fast-Track Intervention for Powerful Teaching and Learning Results

Express Track is designed to deliver results through consistent instructional time. With daily instruction, students can complete the program in as little as one semester. The recommended schedule includes three days of direct instruction and two days of supported practice, helping students apply new skills to both decodable and authentic texts.

Progress Monitoring Made Simple

Built-in quizzes throughout the semester track student progress and provide valuable instructional data. Assessments are available in both digital and print formats for flexible use in any classroom.
